

Using Story Telling as Instructional Method

Everyone loves stories, however young children enjoy it the most, because telling stories has been an effective tool to nurture students' imagination and cognitive activity they make interesting images while listening to various ideas from different people. Story telling also sharpens students' active listening skills and fosters them to enact where possible, as young children would appreciate the storytelling by performing it in front of teachers, parents, and caregivers.

Teaching by Storytelling is one of the important methods used especially at early years and in primary classes, since teaching at early years and primary years are more concerned with moral education and character building, individual rights, problem solving and decision making skills etc. Also through this method students not only learn language i.e. vocabulary, intonation, pitch etc. but also learn how to use nonverbal communication such as gestures and facial expression. There are various advantages of using storytelling as a teaching method, which participants will learn during this session.
